

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE A PART OF EFFORTS TO ERADICATE POVERTY IN ST. LOUIS?

The Archdiocese of St. Louis's Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD) is looking for a Catholic who is committed to social justice for its 2020-2021 internship program. The intern will work 14 or 15 hours per week for twenty-four weeks between September and May and will receive $14/hour. Training for the CCHD internship will take place in Washington D.C. from May 27- May 29. Intern must be able to attend training; costs for the training, including travel, are covered.

In partnership with the diocesan director, the intern will work to increase the capacity of the CCHD office, improving its effectiveness and outreach. He or she will promote the annual parish collection by building relationships with key parishes, clergy, and lay leaders; manage social media; and maintain the webpage. Other responsibilities include learning about the grant-funded organizations, managing a CCHD art contest in area schools, and evaluating grant applications and making funding decisions as part of the CCHD committee.

Successful candidates should have strong writing, speaking, and social media skills, excellent interpersonal and communication skills, a good understanding of Catholic social teaching and the root causes of poverty, and experience in working with low-income and/or marginalized populations. It will also be helpful if the intern has his or her own transportation.

Visit www.usccb.org/cchd to learn more about CCHD and to apply, please visit <https://www.ccstl.org/get-informed/employment/> where you will find the application. Applications are due Friday, April 17th. Questions?
